Intended Outcomes

The following statements express what we hoped you would be able to do as a result of this learning experience. Please read these carefully before answering the questions.

Develop and guide learning experiences from an organic, flowing, mental model that applies across the life span, across organizations, and taps the unique resources of “place” by:

- Using the language of the river to converse about the systemic nature of learning and learning assessment.
- Envisioning an educational system as a river channel with a network of tributaries within a community watershed.
- Mapping the tributaries (in this “place”) that have the potential to enhance learning experiences.
- Building learning communities.

Questions

1. Were there other outcomes for you? Describe:

2. Describe who you think should be invited to this kind of workshop. What is the ideal composition? (i.e. instructors, administrators, community leaders)

3. How did being on the river (as opposed to in a classroom) contribute and/or distract from the intended outcomes for this workshop?

4. What changes would you make to improve this experience for others?

5. How do you compare this experience to other professional development opportunities for educators?
